

ANDY SWANN VOYAGE - CURATED COLLECTION LIMITED EDITION

Picasso and the Mediterranean

From now until Spring 2019, join in the international events celebrating Picasso and the Mediterranean on a guided art-lover's tour along the coast from the French Riviera to Provence.

Not a “blockbuster” exhibition so much as an international cultural collaboration, Picasso Méditerranée brings together more than sixty cultural institutions in six different countries with a program of over forty exhibitions, lectures, colloquia and public events—many of which are taking place across the South of France. Head to Aix-en-Provence to discover the influence that Picasso had on the Columbian artist, Fernando Botero, and the French avant-garde painter Francis Picabia, or examine the hundred rarely seen etchings of the Suite Vollard in Cannes. Take an “imaginary voyage” with Picasso in Marseille, or travel to the perched village of Les Baux-de-Provence to see the magical new Picasso installation in the multimedia galleries of the Carrières de Lumières quarry. Follow in Picasso’s footsteps in the streets of Vallauris, the center for ceramics where he lived and worked for many years, or learn about the artist’s close connections to the seaside town of Antibes. Depending on your travel dates, visit other stunning themed exhibitions in Nice, Mouans-Sartoux, Sorgue, Arles, and Nîmes, working your way along the Mediterranean coast as you learn about this legendary artist’s indelible connection to the South of France and the lasting influence that he had on the cultural and artistic history of the century.
